Critical illness insurance as part of your integrated wellness plan

Critical Illness Happens to Other People ... until it happens to you.

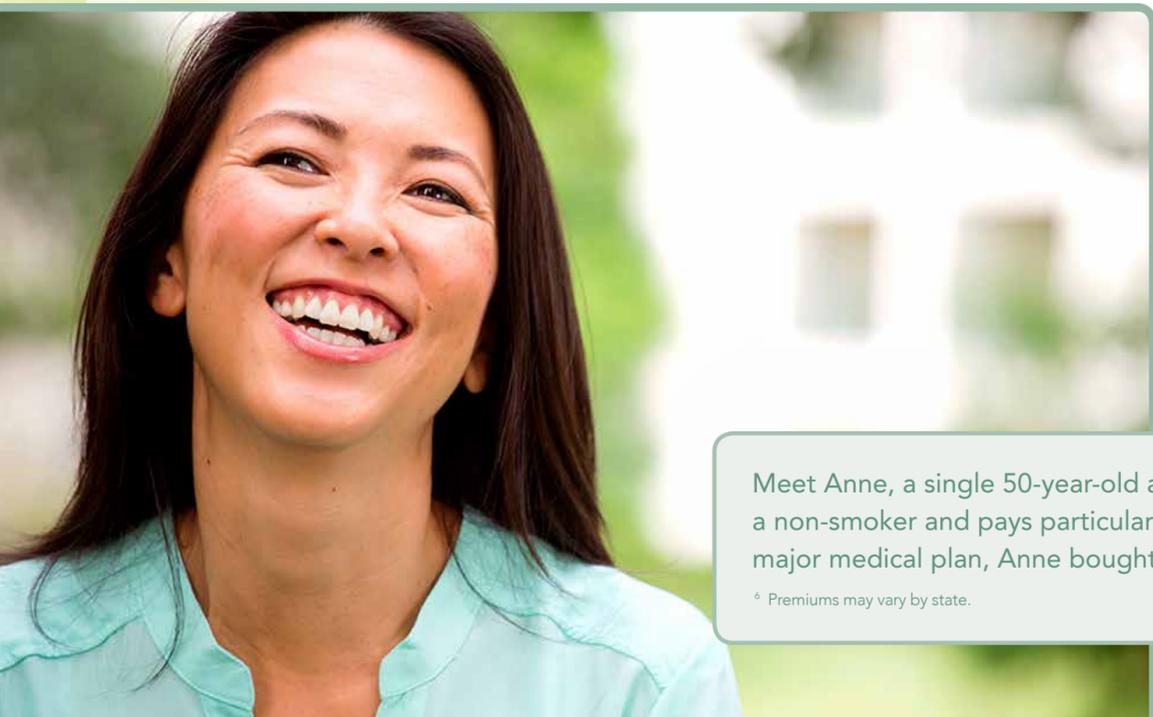

In the past, Americans may have taken for granted the ability to acquire comprehensive health insurance coverage through their employers. That kind of coverage is becoming increasingly expensive. In an effort to manage the expenses associated with health insurance, more Americans are faced with buying health insurance coverage with higher deductibles and copays. It's the way many Americans are keeping health insurance affordable.

More than ever, you need to ask questions and be informed about your health insurance choices. Consider what you would do if you were diagnosed with an illness. Not an illness that can be handled through a simple prescription but a serious illness, a life threatening illness. In those situations, you may be faced with considerable and unexpected expenses that can be associated with the diagnosis of a heart attack, stroke or cancer. For those times you are probably going to need some help.

When faced with a critical illness, both medical and non-medical expenses arise. Out-of-pocket expenses such as in-home care, lost wages and child care come along at exactly the wrong time, and they can be devastating. Most Americans do not have sufficient savings to meet immediate out-of-pocket expenses and are forced to deplete their available assets to cover costs. More than half of all U.S. bankruptcies are based on a medical event<sup>1</sup>; the overwhelming majority of these involve people with health insurance who are nonetheless faced with tens of thousands of dollars of out-of-pocket expenses.

That's why you should consider LifeStyle Assurance™ critical illness insurance as part of your health insurance plan<sup>2</sup>. It's reasonably priced and can help if a critical illness happens to you or a covered spouse or child.

Meet Anne, a single 50-year-old and self employed business owner living in Texas. She has a high deductible healthcare plan. Anne is a non-smoker and pays particular attention to her diet and health, as her family has a history of heart disease. As a supplement to her major medical plan, Anne bought a LifeStyle Assurance plan with a $10,000 benefit amount. What is her weekly premium? Only $7.49.<sup>6</sup>

LifeStyle Assurance: How it Works

LifeStyle Assurance pays, as a lump sum, a percentage of the insurance benefit provided in the policy as listed below when you are first diagnosed with one of the following covered conditions on or after the 30th day (90th day for cancer) coverage becomes effective.<sup>3</sup>

Covered Conditions<sup>4</sup>:

100% coverage

- Invasive cancer
- Heart attack
- Stroke
- End-stage renal failure
- Major organ transplant
- Terminal illness

25% coverage

- Carcinoma in situ
- Major heart surgery

10% coverage

- Angioplasty

Skin cancer benefit

- $250 for the primary insured
- $250 for the insured spouse
- $75 for each insured child

Each covered person's benefit amount decreases by 35% of the benefit amount at age 65 and decreases an additional 15% at age 70. Premium is not reduced as a result of these decreases.

Isn't a Check Better than a Get Well Card?

Benefits through LifeStyle Assurance are paid directly to you. You choose how to spend the money at a time when you and your family may need extra cash the most. Some examples of the ways in which you may choose to spend the benefit paid to you:

- Co-pays and deductibles
- Home healthcare
- Cost of caregivers
- Non-covered "experimental" treatments
- Housekeeping or childcare expenses
- Daily living expenses

Why Critical Illness Coverage?

Thanks to advances in technology, many Americans are surviving critical illnesses that may have been fatal in the past. Almost everyone knows someone who has experienced a critical illness of some kind and survived. Critical illness insurance is designed to provide financial assistance to policyowners facing challenges associated with being diagnosed with a critical illness.

LifeStyle Assurance is a critical illness insurance policy that as part of an integrated wellness plan pays a lump sum benefit amount when a critical illness such as cancer, heart attack or stroke is diagnosed.

Supplemental critical illness advantages:

- ◎ It's simple to understand. LifeStyle Assurance is guaranteed issue critical illness insurance with no pre-existing conditions limitation, no coverage termination age, and no medical exam needed.
- ◎ It's affordable. You choose a benefit amount based on what you can afford and the amount of coverage you desire.
- ◎ It's flexible. There are no limits/restrictions on how benefit amounts are used: It's your choice.
- ◎ It's added protection. Your LifeStyle Assurance policy is free from coordination with other insurance coverage.
